Author, engineer, mentor, and storyteller

John Dwigins is an author, engineer, mentor, and lifelong encourager. After decades of guiding professionals toward more fun, fulfilling, and meaningful work—and a career that included 87 patents and products used in millions of households—he now shares the principles that shaped his own path. He is the author of FuNfilling Career, a practical career series with a workbook and targeted booklets, and True Power, an end-of-the-world science fiction novel. John lives in Wisconsin with his wife, Laurell.
